Across any latitude circle, transport of air is southward.

Eustis

Across any latitude circle, transport of air is northward.

\[
\begin{align*}
\text{Mass Balance} \\
\text{Physical Constant} \: \mu
\end{align*}
\]

Is it consistent with known physical laws?

Is it consistent with observational data?

Is this correct?