

Written by Ari Perlmutter
Sometime, 2004

It is fiction. Minnie has never seen a racoon.
Ari's imagination was triggered one day when he saw Minnie come home with a blue ribbon.

Super Job,

Ari

are getting better and better...

Story

1/11

Cursive

1/11

Hello, my name is Minnie. I am a German Shepherd dog. It is my job to protect my family and their neighbors. So, basically, I am the 'knight of the driveway'. Sometimes, when I am being trained, I see that boy Ari is playing a game with a ball and a net. When squirrels come, I protect everyone near it by chasing them. I go to many dog shows, and I have brought back one blue ribbon! I am very proud of myself.

One day I saw Ari playing ball outside. Then I saw a thing in the shadows. It looked big, mean, ugly, and scary. Then I realized it was a raccoon! I started running at it. At first, it looked like it was going to fight back. Then, I realized I was bigger and stronger than it. So, I ran at it and I tried to hit it with my long paw. I missed, but it scampered away into the bushes and never came back again. The 'knight' saved the day!